Silent Novel Writers

As the weeks go by, it is heartening to see that more and more Write-on members are filling up the WOWO slots every week. As you can see, we have a packed Agenda every week.

Unknown to most people, at least four of our members are actively engaged in writing chapters of their novels. A novel is a huge undertaking which requires talent, diligence, and perseverance. These 'behind-the-scenes scribblers' deserve great credit for sticking to their self-imposed targets. This week, we highlight some of their works in progress.
